LEGAL NOTICES.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned Receiver of the Circuit Court of the United States for the District of West Virginia, in the case of Frank Pearson vs. the Mountaineers, Benwood & Wheeling Railway Company and others, will, on or before April 25, 1896, at the office of Simpson & Harlett, Bankers, Wheeling, West Virginia, receive sealed offers stating the amounts the persons making the offers are willing to pay for the property, real and personal, now in the hands of the said receiver in said suit. This property includes the real property, franchises, power-house, plant and cars of the Mountaineers, Benwood & Wheeling Railway Company, together with a quantity of ties, poles and other materials now lying along the line of the railway of the said company in Marshall county, West Virginia, including 100 feet guard curve, 50 feet 6-inch girder rail, 5 kegs of spikes, 5 kegs of nails, spikes and bolts, 2,000 lbs. screws, 20 pipe brackets, 400 rail bonds, 100 pounds trolley wire, 1,000 rail bond caps, 24 single curve hangers, 4 double curve hangers, 6 adjustable switches, 35 glass and asbestos insulators, 24 insulators, 24 Splitman cars, 22 trolley clamps, 125 poles not set, 200 pipe bracket hangers, about 4,000 ties, 2 closed cars, 1 Buckeye heater, 1 motor, 1 dynamo, 2 Buckeye engines, 1 Duplex pump, 1 lot engine tools. The track as now laid and completed runs from a point in Benwood to the power-house at Jim's Run, about two and one-half miles, and the unfinished portion runs from that point to a point in Mountaineers, Benwood & Wheeling Railway Company, a distance of about one-half mile. The said property shall be one-third of the purchase money in cash on the acceptance of the bid, and the residue in two equal installments, payable in six months and twelve months, with interest and security, but the first or cash payment must be at least $10,000. No bid will be considered unless it is accompanied by a certified check for the amount of the bid, or the undersigned receiver for ten per centum of the amount of the bid, as an earnest of good faith. The right is reserved by the court to reject any and all bids and subsequently to order a sale at auction of the property or to direct the receiver to proceed to complete the said railway as may be determined by the court. The contents received will be opened on the contents thereof disclosed until after six o'clock p. m. on the said 25th day of April, 1896. The said receiver will also receive on or before the 25th day of April, 1896, at the same place, sealed offers of prices at which the persons making such offers will be willing to agree to complete the said railway. These offers to complete the road shall be for its completion according to the original specifications, which were made a part of the contract between the said railway company and Warehouse & Hughes, the person whose offer is accepted to have the privilege of using, without cost to him, all the ties, poles, rails, etc., which are now lying along the road, and he will be required to do all the work and furnish all the equipment and material called for by the said specifications, except what has already been done and furnished. The person whose offer for the completion of the road shall be accepted, shall be bound to enter into a contract containing terms and provisions usual in such cases, and to furnish a bond in a penalty of $10,000 with security satisfactory to the receiver, conditioned for the faithful performance of his contract. The court also reserves the right to reject any or all such offers. The said specifications, or a copy of them, may be seen and examined by persons desiring to make such offers, at the said office of Simpson & Harlett. None of these offers shall be opened nor the contents thereof disclosed until after six o'clock p. m. on the said 25th day of April, 1896.

HOWARD HAZLETT,
Receiver Mountaineers, Benwood & Wheeling Railway Company.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

The State of West Virginia, Ohio County, ss.
In the Circuit Court of Ohio County, West Virginia, April 16, 1896.
George Crow and others vs. Susan Crow and others—in Chancery.
The object of this suit is to have an assignment of dower to Susan Crow, widow of Barnett Crow, to the real estate of said Barnett, being a tract of about seventy-seven acres situate in the Township of Wheeling, in the District of Ohio County, West Virginia, and subject to such dower to have a partition of the said real estate among those entitled to a share thereof and distribution of the proceeds, and the appointment of a temporary receiver of said real estate and the rents and profits therefrom.
And it appearing from an affidavit filed in said cause, at these rules, that the defendants, Mrs. Mary Shirley, Marion F. Crow and Jackson Crow, are not residents of the state of West Virginia, and they not having been served with process in said suit, on motion of the complainants, by their solicitor, this order of publication is entered against them, and it is ordered that the said defendants, above named, be and are required to appear within one month after the date of the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interests. It is further ordered that this order be published and posted as required by law.
Witness, John W. Mitchell, clerk of said court, at the court house of said county, this 15th day of April, 1896, to-wit: April 15, 1896.

JOHN W. MITCHELL, Clerk.
Published the first time April 10, 1896.

Courtship at Sea.

London Fun.
There came a ship a-sailing,
A-sailing o'er the sea,
And strange as it may seem to us,
Four love affairs had she.

The first was with a man-of-war,
To whom she had been "tender,"
The second time—but now alas!
How can I well defend her?

A heavy swell that happened by
She (chanced) after him, I know,
Until his expiration.

The third was with a great big "buoy,"
But him she knew but slightly,
She set her sails full merrily,
And passed him by politely.

The fourth, and last, the best of all
In this strange belle's career
Was when, ambition satisfied,
She's tied up to a "peer."

KES. CLEVELAND AT HOME.

The Popularity of the President's Wife as Great as Ever.

Mrs. Cleveland's frequent social appearances lately have shown very clearly that the strong fascination which her presence always exerted among women has not lessened the veriest jot. She is the most interesting woman in the country to-day, particularly in the fact that people never tire of looking at her. No one was ever yet heard to say that he had been able to watch her quite as long as he would have liked. A great many people now know her intimately, and are able to see her frequently, but for the great majority, to whom this intimacy is denied, the only opportunities come with the important functions at the white house, says the Philadelphia Times.

At one of Mrs. Cleveland's teas recently perhaps 1,000 women had the pleasure of shaking hands with her and at the same time enjoyed a little chat. It would have been hard to find any woman in all this number who, after this enjoyment, did not find some point from which she could stand and feast her eyes again on her hostess. Every detail of her appearance, every ornament she wore and every word she said was discussed and admired.

"Don't you think she is handsomer than ever?" said one.
"I wish I could wear my hair as simply arranged as Mrs. Cleveland," said another, while still another chimed in with: "She seems to fascinate me; I can't take my eyes from her."

So it went, the same admiring comments and the same pleasure taken in even looking at her, as everybody remembers so vividly the first year of her residence in the white house.

In evening dress Mrs. Cleveland is the handsomest woman to-day in Washington. She has a beautiful neck and well-rounded shoulders, and with the sparkle of her jewels, makes a picture of a white house mistress which is simply regal. Her smile is contagious, for her manners are always agreeably gracious.

Ruth and Esther and baby Marian are miniatures of their mother. The two elder girls love to get a glimpse of the grand daylight, doing in their home, and to do it have to peep through the balustrade of the big stairway, which is their tower of observation. They talk German with their fraulein with the greatest ease.

Mrs. Cleveland is seen on the street occasionally, walking in the morning, or driving around among the shops. She is the most devoted of mothers and is never away from the children at night. This has done away with the little shopping jaunts to New York which used to give her so much pleasure during her first residence in Washington.

TO BANISH FRECKLES.

The Springtime Blurs on the Skin of Beauty May be Removed.

Philadelphia Times: For everyday or summer freckles the best treatment is as follows: Frequent bathing with pure soap and water, the use of the scrubbing brush and a dry friction of the skin, carried to an extent a little short of irritation.

The advantage of friction is not only that it assists in cleansing the skin, but excites the cutaneous circulation. I have seen many and many a freckled face, scrubbed and rubbed clear of all stains without other aids, but the most simple remedies which will hasten the cure. The most effective of these to be used in connection with the scrubbing and dry friction are a cream or pomade to use at night, just before retiring, and a wash to be used during the day. The cream is made as follows: Creme Rosalind—Lanolin, 5 grammes; sweet almond oil, 5 grammes; sulphur (precipitated), 5 grammes; oxide of zinc, 2 1/2 grammes; violet extract, 1/2 grammes.

Place the sulphur and zinc first in the mortar, then add the almond oil a little at a time until a smooth paste is formed; next add the lanolin and finally the violet perfume. Put in ointment boxes and keep closed.

This pomade is easily absorbed by the skin, and is excellent, not only in the treatment of freckles, but also for any of the lighter skin eruptions which frequently annoy girls between the ages of fourteen and eighteen. In the morning wash the ointment carefully out of the skin and apply the following lotion. Repeat the application of the lotion several times through the day.

Formula for Lotion—Liquor of potassa, 1 fluid ounce; distilled water, 19 ounces.

Mix, pour into a bottle and keep closely stoppered.

A Home-Loving Princess.

Of all the members of the royal family the duchess of Fife is the one who dislikes publicity the most, and probably no other princess goes into public so often without being recognized. The duchess is extremely fond of walking and as she generally wears a thick veil, her identity is seldom revealed. Her royal highness does not care about great festivities and particularly dislikes the official ceremonies of the court, such as drawing rooms and state concerts. The duchess is never so happy as when she is in the nursery.

Mr. A. H. Cranby, of No. 125 Kerr St., Memphis, Tenn., writes that his wife had cancer of the breast, and that two large holes in her breast, and which the best physicians of the surrounding country treated and pronounced incurable. Her grandmother and aunt had died of and when told this, the most eminent specialists of New York, under whose treatment she was placed, declared her case was hopeless. She was given up to die. S. S. S. was recommended, and astonishingly it cured her sound and well.

Our treatise on this disease will be sent free to any address.

with her two little girls, and, indeed, it may be truly said that she inherits all the home instincts of her mother, the princess of Wales. The duchess, like her sisters, Princesses Victoria and Maud, is a good housewife and has a knowledge of cooking such as would astonish a good many middle class housekeepers.

Flesh-Making Food.

Cream gruel, according to an eminent English authority, is the ideal nourishment for this folk. A teaspoonful taken at night immediately before retiring is said to give marvelous results. To be at its best it must be perfectly made, then thinned with sweet cream. Taken in that condition and warm it is agreeable as well as fattening and produces just that sense of satisfied hunger essential to ideal rest. It is claimed that perseverance in the treatment yields such apparent results that the cheeks can be seen to expand from day to day.

A Spring Hint.

Housekeepers are beginning to learn that the very cheap qualities of matting are really very dear. In the bedroom of an adult perhaps, and well covered with durable rug, the matting serves a purpose, but it is folly to depend upon it in the nursery, dining or living room. The more expensive, well-made, jointless matting offers a much better final economy. These may be, if desired, sewed like carpets, and, though no matting adapts itself well to rediting in another room, the jointless variety is much better than any other sort. In colored matting dark shades cannot be recommended to wear, with perhaps the exception of the old gold tint. This color produces in the wearing process a natural matting shade that is not objectionable.

FASHION'S WHIMS.

Here is the description of a magnificent gown in an English tressou, for which article the bride-elect said her dressmaker $800. The foundation is a thick duchess satin of a dogrose pink, the skirt flat in front and at the sides but flaring at the edge; frills of old Louis Seize Alencon lace trim the seams down the front of the skirt and fall in cascades ornamented with rosettes of amber ribbon adorned with violets and yellow hyacinths. The bodice is low and shows no seams, fastening under folded plaits at the back. In front it is blouse-shaped, with falls of Alencon lace and bows of yellow satin ribbon. The waistband is of two rows of yellow satin ribbon placed apart and fastening with rosettes; the sleeves are full epaulettes of the Alencon lace caught up with the same violets and hyacinths which appear on the skirts.

The Marie Antoinette style of hair dressing is making desperate efforts to break into society, but the women look at it askance, for ringlets do not seem possible. At a dinner intime at Paris the other day one of the guests had her hair dressed this way, with two little curls resting on her white neck and a diadem set well forward on her hair. She was gazed at respectfully, but not wholly admiringly.

New neckwear is all of the flamboyant Elizabeth style, though as yet not so exaggerated. Some modern collars stand high around the throat in small lace-edged squares or vandykes of white law or chiffon—a pretty but perishable fashion for summer wear.

The tip-titled hat, romantically dubbed the nose hat, has come to stay, for it has not only demonstrated its becomingness, but its usefulness as well, being an ideal headgear for driving, as the most inquisitive sunshine cannot penetrate beneath its brim.

The highly-colored straw hats, whose vivid greens and purples would be quite too true next the face, are lined beneath the brim with fine white chip, or Neapolitan straw, and so saves one's complexion-reputation, much to the feminine satisfaction.

The bigger the bow at the back of the neck the more chic the girl, and when the brim of her hat is filled with roses and tilted well over her nose, then, indeed, may she rest content, for she is demonstrating the very latest Parisian mode.

The brilliant American beauty rose, which fairly throbs with color, has for the moment superseded all other flowers as a corsage, and the tall-made girl is seldom seen without a single fragrant bud pinned to her smart little jacket.

A handsome new gown has a daring skirt of dark-blue patterned in a white check. The bodice is of pale-yellow chiffon half concealed by a zouave jacket of white satin embroidered with black butterflies of lace.

One of the new trappings is tulle braided with gold and silver. A diamond dress of white satin trimmed with this presents a pretty appearance.

Feminine feet requiring shoes larger than No. 5 ought never be incased in light-colored leather.

The cloth cape will enjoy as great a vogue this spring as the more dressy velvet affairs.

A black velvet bodice is good form, even in summer, provided the weather allows it.

Checked skirts with plain cloth bodices are much more chic than all check costumes.

NEW MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

A Positive Cure for Dyspepsia.

This may read as though we were putting in a little strong because it is generally thought by the majority of people that dyspepsia in its chronic form is incurable or practically so. But we have long since shown that dyspepsia is curable, nor is it such a difficult matter as at first appears.

The trouble with dyspepsia is that they are continually dieting, starving themselves, or going to opposite extremes of eating the already over-burdened stomach with "bitters," "after-dinner pills," etc., which invariably increase the difficulty even if in some cases they do give a slight temporary relief. Such treatment of the stomach simply makes matters worse. What the stomach wants is rest. Now how can the stomach become rested, recuperated and at the same time the body nourished and sustained.

This is the great secret and this is also the secret of the uniform success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. This is a comparatively new remedy, but its success and popularity leaves no doubt as to its merits.

The Tablets will digest the food anyway, regardless of condition of stomach. The sufferer from dyspepsia according to directions is to eat an abundance of good, wholesome food and use the tablets before and after each meal and the result will be that the food will be digested no matter how bad your dyspepsia may be, because as before stated, the tablets will digest the food even if the stomach is wholly inactive. To illustrate our meaning plainly, if you take 3,000 grains of meat, eggs or ordinary food and place it in a temperature of 98 degrees, and put with it one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets it will digest the meat or eggs almost as perfectly as if the meat was enclosed within the stomach.

The stomach may be ever so weak yet these tablets will perform the work of digestion and the body and brain will be properly nourished and at the same time a radical, lasting cure of dyspepsia will be made because the much abused stomach will be given, to some extent, a much needed rest.

Your druggist will tell you that of all the many remedies advertised to cure dyspepsia none of them has given so complete and general satisfaction as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and not least in importance in these hard times is the fact that they are also the cheapest and give the most good for the least money.

ODDITIES OF ANIMALS.

Some Queer Features which are Seldom Noticed by Observers.

Observe for yourselves. Every spotted dog has the end of his tail white, while every spotted cat has the end of her tail black.

Try it. Gather 10,000 of the threads spun by a full-grown spider, twist them together and see if they equal in substance the size of one of your hairs.

Oysters live ten to twelve years when they have the chance. In this country they don't get the chance, observes a writer in the New York Herald.

Many horses are fond of beer, and to a tired horse a bottle of beer in his gruel is a great restorative. It acts as a "pick me up" and often makes a horse with no appetite eat freely. Brewers understand this, and that is one reason why their horses always seem to be in good condition.

The large horned beetle can carry 315 times its own weight. One has been known to walk away with a two and a quarter pound weight.

Live bees are sometimes shipped on ice so as to keep them dormant during the journey. This is particularly the case with bumblebees, which have been taken to New Zealand, where they are useful in fertilizing the red clover that has been introduced into the colony.

The amount of light that can be obtained from fireflies is not generally known. These insects have two bright spots on their thorax and also brilliant wings on the abdomen, and give light sufficient to enable one to read at a little distance. Two or three placed in the center of a room will shed a soft light all over it. They are very common in Havana, Brazil, Guiana, Venezuela and Mexico.

In those countries at night the natives affix the little creatures to their shoes, and thus obtain light to see the road and frighten away the snakes. Mexican women use them as jewels. They tie them in little gauze bags and put them in their hair or on their clothing. They keep them in wire cages and feed them on scraps of sugar-cane.

Reynard is a knowing animal. The foxes are much tormented by fleas, but when the infestation becomes too severe, they know how to get rid of the insects. They gather from the bark of trees moss, which they carry to a stream that deepens by degrees. Here they enter the water, still carrying the moss in their mouths, and going backward, beginning from the end of their tails, they advance by slow degrees till the whole body with the exception of the mouth is entirely immersed. The fleas, during this proceeding, have rushed in rapid haste to the dry parts, and finally to the moss, and the fox, when he has, according to his calculation, allowed sufficient time for all the fleas to take their departure, quietly opens his mouth. The moss floats off down the stream with its burden of fleas, and when it is out of jumping reach the fox finds its way to the bank much relieved.

Attached His Wages.
CENTRAL CITY, Col., April 15.—Samuel Covington, an ore hauler, in a rage to-day, caused by an attachment on his wages, shot City Marshal Michael Kelleher and ex-Mayor Dick Williams. Covington then started to drive off in his wagon and was pursued by 100 men. Henry Lehman shot Covington, killing him. Kelleher is expected to die. Williams will recover.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
